If you're just using your engineers to code, you're only getting about half their value

"I have said many times that the best single source for innovation is your engineers (because they're working with the enabling technology every day, so they're in the best position to see what's just now possible)."

"Hopefully this is obvious, but a strong tech-powered product company would no sooner outsource their engineers, than they would outsource their CEO."

Facilitating context

Play Day 1

Decrease by -0.7pp due to added friction, see next section "Day 1 Funnel" for further explanation

Day 1 Funnel

8pp of regs drop out in the taste onboarding flow. To improve we should optimise friction vs. taste signals, and get more people to play without hurting recommendations

Not all participants realised they could pick several genres and artists.

- This is something we've seen in several tests before and should be taken into consideration when evaluating the quant test.
- As we've seen in the previous test (read THIS report), this can potentially be solved by adding different context.

'I didn't really see that I could pick multiple artists' (nor did she pick multiple genres) - Bonnie

“The most important thing is to empower teams by assigning them problems to solve, and then give the teams the space to solve them.”

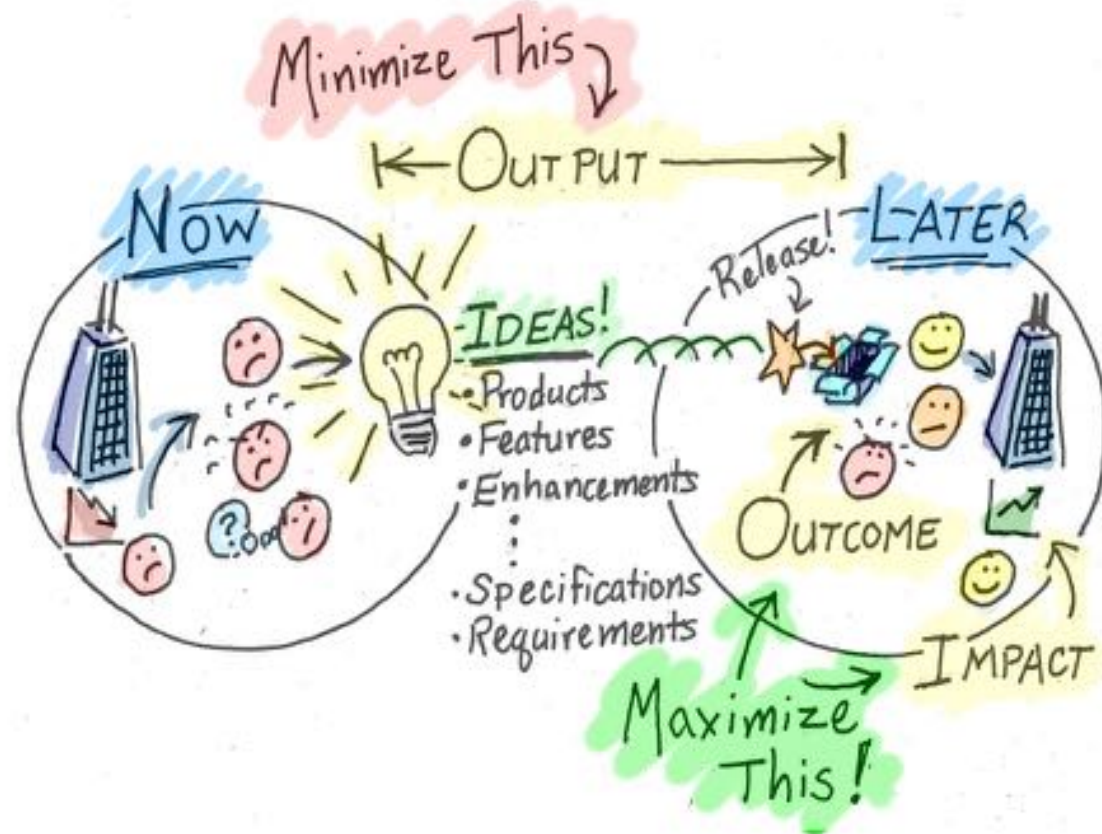

“And it’s essential that we define success by business results (aka outcome), and not simply activity or output.”

New idea

Focused on Outcomes, not on Output

Activities, Epics, Features, Stories...

- How we believe we are going to reach our goals
- These are just hypotheses/bets
- They have to change if the numbers aren't improving

These bets have a low success rate

The vast majority of [new ideas] fail in experiments, and even experts often misjudge which ones will pay off.

At Google and Bing, only about 10% to 20% of experiments generate positive results.

At Microsoft as a whole, one-third prove effective, one-third have neutral results, and one-third have negative results.

to Lambda, bcc: staff

What is it?

Discover Weekly is a new personalized playlist based on the popl playlists from 2014's Year in Review.

Every Monday we'll (re)fill it with two new hours of music, selecte your recent listening.

How do I try it?

For the employee test, Discover Weekly should magically appear

Survey (google form)

"How how much do you like the music in your discover weekly"

5 ↑ Love it! Found a new favorite song!
1 Hate it!

Rest of Spotify using it, loving it!

And giving feedback. More iterating!

Discover Weekly reaches one billion tracks streamed in 10 weeks

Posted on October 8, 2015 by Martin Vacher

It seems we've found a cure for "a case of the Mondays." In just 10 weeks, 1 billion tracks have been named from Discover Weekly playlists. It's the best-ever recommendations delivered to you as a weekly mixtape of fresh music each Monday.

71% of Discover Weekly listeners save at least one song to their own playlists and 60% of users weekly go on to stream five or more tracks. Wow.

of the music fans who listen, discover and share music and artists every kly — the entire Spotify team behind DW is overwhelmed with this
